National Language Teachers' Association to Welcome New Board Member, and Representative for Yukon at Annual General Meeting

OTTAWA, September 20, 2010 – The Canadian Association of Second Language Teachers (CASLT) will welcome Janice Aubry on its Board of Directors, and Elizabeth Lemay on its National Council as the new representative for Yukon on Friday, 24 September.

Janice Aubry is the Supervisor of the Institute for Innovation in Second Language Education (IISLE) at Edmonton Public Schools. She provides leadership for all languages, with a special focus on pedagogy; leadership development; local, national, and international collaborations; research; technologies; and partner institutes. During her 24-year career as a second language educator, she has worked as a teacher, a consultant, a team leader for languages at Alberta Education, and as a university instructor. She has received numerous awards, has presented at many international events, and has directed several conferences. Ms. Aubry has served on several Boards and Councils, including CASLT's National Council for four years.

Elizabeth Lemay will join CASLT's National Council as the representative for Yukon. She is the Director of Programs and Services for the Yukon Department of Education. She has over 30 years of experience as a teacher and administrator at the school, district, and territory level. Second language programming is within her mandate for Yukon Public Schools, including French as a second language (FSL). She works closely with the Coordinator of French Programs, consultants, and teachers to provide leadership for researching and articulating pedagogical practices for Yukon schools.
