WHILE READING CASLT’s 2021–2022 annual report, I was again struck by how so many diverse people, groups, and organizations — linked by a shared passion for language teaching and learning — contribute to CASLT’s successes. Our network of volunteers, employees, contractors, and partners is evidence of widespread support for language teachers across the country and a shared drive to promote language education. In 2021–2022, CASLT continued to work towards its mission of excellence in teaching languages through its wide range of services and opportunities for second language teachers in Canada.

CASLT’s membership grew in 2021–2022, likely in part due to the increase in L2 events and conferences this year (as organizations got more comfortable hosting events online) and the launch of our new, streamlined website and accompanying branding. In addition to offering more content for second language teachers, CASLT’s new website is more accessible and user-friendly, encouraging engagement with our association.

Some other notable accomplishments in 2021–2022 include these:

- Adding quality professional learning (PL) content to the CASLT Learning Centre. The platform now has 56 different courses and hundreds of PL materials.
- Publishing two literature reviews as part of the FSL Teacher Education Project.

  » Preparing for L2 and FSL Teaching: A Literature Review on Essential Components of Effective Teacher Education for Language Teachers

  » Second Language Teacher Attrition, Retention, and Recruitment: A Literature Review on Issues, Challenges, and Strategies for French as a Second Language Teachers

- Initiating work on two important projects: Study on the Impact of COVID-19 on L2 Teacher Practice and Supporting Second Language Teachers in a Blended Teaching Model.
President’s Message

Our L2 community grows stronger when it gains diversity in voices and experiences.

• Developing and sharing the Languages Build Video Series.
• Holding a successful second edition of the Languages Build Video Contest.

CASLT is committed to supporting second language teachers in Canada in 2022–2023 and beyond. As always, we welcome suggestions and feedback from our members, and we encourage you to continue engaging with us through our events, publications, research projects, and social media. Our L2 community grows stronger when it gains diversity in voices and experiences.

I extend thanks to the Department of Canadian Heritage for supporting our association. I would also like to thank our CASLT members: you are the core of this association, and we exist to support you and promote you in your work of language teaching. Here’s to continuing to share in the passion for L2 teaching and learning and promoting excellence in teaching languages across Canada.
I'M PLEASED to report that, despite COVID-related disruptions, CASLT followed through with most of its programming and special projects in 2021–2022.

The pandemic’s impact was most felt in activities involving travel. Most notably, the Annual General Meeting and Networking Day were held online for the second consecutive year. Several Board of Directors meetings and CASLT representation at teacher conferences also took place via web conferencing.

In 2021–2022, CASLT staff continued to work on improving organizational capacity and efficiency in several areas.

CASLT’s new website has allowed us to reorganize information and functionalities to make the site more intuitive for users. We continue to tweak and troubleshoot various features to enhance the user experience.

The office dedicated significant energy to expanding CASLT’s capacity to reach L2 educators and stakeholders. This work included updating and expanding CASLT’s list of contacts and stakeholders and implementing CASLT’s new association management software. A mail-out to some 3,500 L2 educators also helped raise awareness of CASLT programs, products, and services.

Professional learning remains a core CASLT activity. We host and coordinate Online Professional Learning sessions, CASLT Chez-Vous sessions, Networking Day, and the Languages Without Borders conference. More recently, we added the CASLT Learning Centre and the CASLT Mentorship Program to our professional development assets. We revised the CASLT Learning Centre course categories and we periodically assess new content for inclusion. We are reconfiguring the CASLT Mentorship Program into a site that will foster communities of practice and greater teacher participation.

Through social media, our CASLT Info ACPLS digital newsletter, and our professional magazine Réflexions, CASLT shares relevant information and promotes the exchange of ideas among L2 educators and stakeholders. The national office also established new communications assets through the redesigned CASLT website, including the events calendar and the CASLT blog.

I want to thank the CASLT Board of Directors for their valuable guidance and support and the CASLT staff for their professionalism and dedication to the association.
Annual General Meeting

CASLT’s annual general meeting (AGM) took place online for the second time. On October 1, 2021, over 120 CASLT members met virtually to take stock of the association’s 2020–2021 year and look toward upcoming initiatives.

Among the agenda items were the reports from the CASLT president, treasurer, and auditor and the announcement of the 2021 CASLT award recipients. The AGM also saw the election of a new board member and the introduction of two new National Council members.

Board of Directors
2021–2022

The Board of Directors is responsible for supervising the management of the association’s activities and affairs. To fulfill this mandate, CASLT’s Board held eight virtual and two in-person meetings in 2021–2022.

In the 2021–2022 fiscal year, CASLT’s Board initiated and accomplished many activities. It undertook several new projects in addition to its recurring responsibilities, which involve setting priorities, providing oversight, approving budgets and financial reports, and receiving activity reports. It also developed a new strategic plan to guide the association from 2022 to 2025. CASLT’s National Council representatives continue to support the Board with their dedication and expertise. These are our Board members:
National Council 2021–2022

CASLT’s National Council (NC) representatives act as a bridge between the association and its members and stakeholder network in each of Canada’s provinces and territories. NC representatives help promote CASLT’s services and resources, foster networking among the L2 community, take an active role in CASLT committees and working groups, and keep the CASLT Board and staff apprised of the L2 landscape and realities in their respective province or territory. These are our National Council members:

- Kindra Harte, British Columbia
- Diana Boisvert, Alberta
- Tara Dryburgh, Saskatchewan
- Meredith McGuinnes, Manitoba
- Faten Hanna, Ontario
- Philippa Parks, Quebec
- Karla Culligan, New Brunswick
- Stephanie Burke, Nova Scotia
- Jennifer MacDonald, Prince Edward Island
- Erin Dawe, Newfoundland and Labrador
- Nicole Doré, Yukon
- Jeff McConomy, Northwest Territories and Nunavut
Committees and Working Groups

Thanks to an expansive list of standing committees, board committees, project working groups, and outside experts, CASLT’s capacity to deliver programs to members remains solid. Standing committees are mandated by the association’s by-laws and are permanent. Other committees and working groups are created by the Board to address current issues and initiatives and are reviewed annually. We are grateful to the dedicated group of volunteers who serve on these committees to help CASLT achieve its mission.

2021 CASL T Awards

Robert Roy Award
Named after CASLT’s founding president, the 2021 Robert Roy Award went to Dr. Angela George, Associate Professor at the School of Languages, Literatures and Cultures in the Faculty of Arts, University of Calgary. Dr. George has taught all levels of Spanish in both secondary and postsecondary classrooms. In addition, she has delivered several pedagogical workshops and language pedagogy courses. Her research in Hispanic Linguistics addresses the teaching and acquisition of Spanish for all learners, including heritage speakers, in both formal and informal contexts.

H.H. Stern Award
The H.H. Stern Award is given to language teachers in recognition of their innovative teaching practices. This year the award went to Patrick Twigg, a former student of residential schools in Southern Alberta. As an adult, he made the brave choice to go back to school and get his first degree from the University of Lethbridge and then his B.Ed. and M.Ed. Pat has worked as a school counselor, teacher assistant, full time teacher, and associate principal. He is currently the Blackfoot Language and Culture Coordinator for the Kainai Board of Education. Pat has made instrumental contributions to the revitalization of Blackfoot language and culture. He consulted with the Blackfoot community and with an education curriculum expert to develop resources that help students learn their language and culture. The educational materials he and his department created ensure that students know who they are as members of the Kainai Nation. His initiative benefits his students, their parents, his colleagues, and the wider community.

Honorary Lifetime Member Award
The Honorary Lifetime Membership Award, bestowed on an individual who has contributed significantly and broadly to the field of second language teaching and learning, went to Léo-James Lévesque. Léo-James has a master’s degree in education with a specialization in curriculum and instruction. He is currently an assistant professor at St. Thomas University’s School of Education in Fredericton, New Brunswick. He has also taught at the University of New Brunswick, the University of Prince Edward Island, and Memorial University in Newfoundland. Throughout his career, Léo-James has been a teacher, an elementary school principal, and a school district supervisor. He has over 30 years of experience in teaching French as a second language (FSL).

One of Léo-James’ goals involves promoting the importance of bilingualism in Canada. Thanks to his wide-ranging expertise, drive, and dedication to the teaching of FSL, he is a highly sought-out expert and workshop leader across Canada on a variety of topics. As the author of many children’s books, Léo-James strives to nurture reading and writing from an early age. He also helped design and develop various educational resources and adapt teaching manuals now used by students throughout Canada. Léo-James has won several awards over the years, among them the André-Obadia Excellence Award from the l’Association canadienne des professionnels d’immersion (ACPİ) for his outstanding contribution to fostering French-language teaching in Canada. He has also received the J. Elmer Hynes Excellence in Leadership Award from Canadian Parents for French (CPF) as well as the Hilroy Scholarship Award, bestowed by the Canadian Teachers’ Federation (CTF) in recognition of his innovation in the field of education.
Facilitating the exchange of information and ideas among L2 teachers and stakeholders is one of CASLT’s areas of focus. CASLT uses several communication channels to expand its network and foster connections among those in the L2 world.

Réflexions

Réflexions, our professional magazine, remains an important vehicle for information on current research in additional language education, classroom practices and strategies, profiles of stakeholders in L2 education, and information on CASLT activities. Réflexions is published three times a year, posted on CASLT’s website, and sent to our members in digital format. The second issue of 2021 (vol. 40, no. 2) was the first to use our new design and layout.

CASLT Info ACPLS

CASLT’s e-newsletter, CASLT Info ACPLS, is sent out weekly. Average weekly delivery in 2021–2022 rose to 7,571, a 5% increase over the previous year. Approximately 68% of subscribers open the newsletter, which is well above the industry average of 25%. CASLT Info ACPLS is an important tool to keep language educators informed about CASLT initiatives and news and developments in their field.

CASLT Website

CASLT officially launched its new website in January 2022. The website was restructured and redesigned and is now more engaging and user-friendly. Our website is a hub for informing and interacting with members, sharing information, and distributing pedagogical and professional development resources. New sections like “Why Learn Languages?” and “In the Classroom” provide innovative and informative content for language teachers and anyone who wants to promote language learning. It is also now easier to navigate and purchase from CASLT’s online boutique.

CASLT Blog

Another new feature of CASLT’s website is the CASLT blog. CASLT blog articles share language teaching tips, experiences, and ideas for the classroom on a range of relevant topics from various blog contributors. The blog is another way for language teachers to gain inspiration and advice for their own teaching practices.
Information and Communications

Social Media
CASLT continues to engage with members, stakeholders, and the public through its social media channels, where it shares information about CASLT initiatives, informs members about developments in the L2 field, and connects with second language education professionals.

Twitter
In 2021–2022, CASLT sent out 353 tweets, resulting in 2,000 engagements. By the fiscal year-end, CASLT had 2,600 followers, representing a 7% increase over the previous year.

Facebook Group
Managed by friends of CASLT, the CASLT/ACPLS Facebook group facilitates networking and the exchange of information and ideas among second language educators.

YouTube
CASLT’s YouTube channel amassed over 90,000 views in 2021–2022. Its subscriber count also increased by 210 for a total of 1,002.

CASLT undertook a major video project in 2021, interviewing experts on the eight benefits of language learning identified in the Literature Review on the Impact of Second-Language Learning. The videos, part of CASLT’s Languages Build Advocacy Toolkit, are now available on CASLT’s YouTube channel. We encourage our members to share them with students, parents, and colleagues to highlight the importance of language learning.

Facebook Page
The CASLT Facebook page published 242 posts, which generated over 1,200 engagements. At the end of March 2022, the page had 645 likes, up 15% from the previous year.
One of CASL T’s priorities is to help its members continue to learn, develop their teaching practices, and grow as educators. Diverse professional learning opportunities throughout the year allow CASL T members to learn from L2 subject matter experts and one another about current hot topics and issues in the L2 field.

Online Professional Learning

Online Professional Learning (OPL) sessions are one-hour webinars on topics pertinent to second language teachers. A total of 251 participants attended the seven OPL sessions CASL T hosted in 2021–2022.

- Disrupting FSL through Critical Literacy in the Classroom, Mimi Masson (English session only), Amanda Cloutier (French session only), and Rubina Sharma-Mohan
- Enjoying a Sense of Well-Being and Passion for Teaching: Finding Meaning, Nancy Goyette
- Discover Design Thinking: Creating Authentic and Engaging Experiences in the Second Language Classroom through Project-Based Learning, Ron Sperling
- It All Starts with a Great Story! Exploring Language, Literacy, and Social Consciousness with Second Language Learners, Joanne Robertson
- You “Can-Do” It with Video! The Language Learning Benefits of Student-Made Videos, Jim Murphy
- Assessment Challenges During Pandemic Times: Strategies for Ensuring Academic Integrity, Ron Sperling
- 21st Century Learning to Support Access, Achievement, Equity, and Empowerment in a Secondary FSL Context, Rubina Sharma-Mohan

CASL T Chez-Vous (CCV)

CCVs are one- or half-day professional development workshops, held in-person or virtually, centred on a theme designed by CASL T or based on the expertise of a selected presenter. CASL T organized one CASL T Chez-Vous session in 2021–2022 for the Winnipeg School Division. It was entitled “French Immersion Virtual Summit 2022: L’acquisition de la langue française en immersion et des stratégies gagnantes pour promouvoir la communication orale.”

CASL T Learning Centre

Much quality professional learning content was added to the CASL T Learning Centre in 2021–2022. In spring 2021, CASL T’s Professional Learning Committee evaluated 46 recordings from the 2020 Languages Without Borders conference and 17 older OPL webinars, which led to the addition of 26 new recordings. The My Virtual Classroom series — consisting of 16 recorded webinars plus downloadable resources such as teacher tools, checklists, activity templates, and more — was also added. The CASL T team also improved the user experience in the Learning Centre by reorganizing and cleaning up the content. The platform now has 56 distinct courses with hundreds of professional learning materials such as webinar recordings, teacher tools, articles, podcasts, and more.

In spring 2022, the CASL T team decided to transition the Learning Centre to a new platform that would be fully compatible with CASL T's member database and provide more flexibility in the content setup and layout. The new platform will be launched in late 2022.

CASL T Mentorship Program

After low uptake in the CASL T Mentorship Program, CASL T regrouped and formed a new steering committee to rework it. Through research and consultation, we determined that the way forward is a more flexible online platform focused on community and collaboration. CASL T commissioned a contractor to rewrite the content and a developer to build a new site. The new platform will be a social media–like environment where teachers can connect, share resources, discuss challenges, form groups, and access professional learning content. It will be launched in late 2022.
Boutique

CASLT’s online boutique was redesigned as part of CASLT’s website revamp project, and it is now easier to navigate it and to order publications. Users can browse resources by category: Professional Development, Pedagogical, Research and Survey Reports, and Free Resources.

In 2021–2022, 930 publications were purchased from the boutique. The most-purchased resources were these:

- Action-Oriented Approach Handbook
- Success for All Series. Supporting Additional Language Learners in the Second Language Classroom
- New Teacher’s Handbook: Surviving and Thriving in the Second Language Classroom
- Assessment in Action: A CEFR-Based Toolkit for FSL Teachers (Level A)
- Success for All Series. Supporting Additional Language Learners in Every Classroom

2022 Language Teacher Calendar

In recognition of the United Nations International Year of Artisanal Fisheries and Aquaculture 2022, this edition of the CASLT calendar focuses on fish of the world. As a pedagogical tool for language teachers, the calendar presents useful information and suggests class activities and assignment ideas. Languages are best learned through conversation, so the activities emphasize discussion and presentation. The featured third languages of the calendar are Algonquin, Japanese, Persian, and Yoruba.

Célébrons la francophonie!

Célébrons la francophonie is a collection of activities for FSL teachers to use with their students to explore and celebrate the French language and the French-speaking world. CASLT provides this resource in the context of the Semaine nationale de la francophonie. The 2022 theme was "Francophones: toi, moi, et nous!"

This year, the Célébrons la francophonie resource was enhanced with eight ready-to-use Kahoot! quizzes and a Live Canada-Wide Kahoot! Challenge at the end of March. FSL teachers across Canada were invited to participate in the live Kahoot! with their students to connect in real-time with other teachers and students in Canada to celebrate French, have fun while promoting the use and acquisition of French, and have a chance to win prizes. Over 900 players joined from across the country!
CASLT initiates, supports, and disseminates research and projects to advance and contribute to the field of second-language education. It strives to keep its members informed of current and emerging trends in language education.

FSL Teacher Education Project

The FSL Teacher Education Project (full title: Identifying Requirements and Gaps in French as a Second Language (FSL) Teacher Training: Recommendations and Guidelines) entered its final phase in 2021–2022. Funded by the Department of Canadian Heritage as part of its FSL Teacher Recruitment and Retention Strategy, it aims to identify ways to better equip new FSL teachers for success in the early stages of their careers. The project’s final report will be published in fall 2022.

Literature Reviews

CASLT commissioned two literature reviews to help inform the FSL Teacher Education project. They were published in 2021–2022 and are available for free download in CASLT’s online boutique:

- Preparing for L2 and FSL Teaching: A Literature Review on Essential Components of Effective Teacher Education for Language Teachers
- Second Language Teacher Attrition, Retention, and Recruitment: A Literature Review on Issues, Challenges, and Strategies for French as a Second Language Teachers

Study on the Impact of COVID-19 on L2 Teacher Practice

In 2021, the CASLT Board commissioned a research project to explore the enduring impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on second language teachers and their practice across the country. Dr. Roswita Dressler of the University of Calgary is leading the study. An article about the project and its initial findings was featured in Réflexions 41–1, and a series for the CASLT blog is underway. The final report will be published in fall 2022.
Supporting Second Language Teachers in a Blended Teaching Model

As part of its mission to support second language teachers and teaching throughout Canada, CASLT is sponsoring a support project for teaching languages in a blended learning model. This project aims to support L2 teachers and administrators in the transition to teaching in a blended environment through resources, professional development, and community-building. It will leverage CASLT’s infrastructure of programs, services, tools, communications channels, and stakeholder networks to deliver support to teachers. A new “Blended Teaching Tips” section in Réflexions debuted in the 41–1 issue, and more resources are on track to be available in fall 2022.

Shortage of FSL and French Immersion Teachers in Canada

In 2020–2021, CASLT and the Association canadienne des professionnels de l’immersion (ACPI) joined forces to develop a national picture of the French teacher shortage in Canada. The results of the study were announced in spring 2021. The report, which details the study’s findings and provides recommendations for future actions, is available in the CASLT boutique as a free download.

Research and Special Initiatives Grants

CASLT awards Research and Special Initiatives Grants to bridge teacher experience with CASLT initiatives. In 2021–2022, CASLT supported five projects with $1,000 grants:

- Implementing Culturally Responsive Literacy Resources in High School FSL Classrooms (Amanda Cloutier, Mandy Treichel, and Rubina Sharma-Mohan)
- The Web-Pal Program, a Digital Intercultural Exchange (Karen Devonish-Mazzotta and Serena Quintal)
- The Neurolinguistic Approach (NLA) to Prepare for CEFR Testing (Anja Dressler and Frank Moeller)
- Differentiated Instruction for Young Mandarin as a Second-Language (MSL) Learners in Online Classrooms (Chuan Liu and Youjia Zhao)
- Structured Literacy Learning Circles for FSL Teachers (Kimberly Lockhart and Kama Wilson)

Disseminating Research

CASLT continues to publish a research article in each issue of Réflexions. An affinity agreement with The Canadian Modern Language Review also allows CASLT members to subscribe to the journal at a discounted price.
CASLT advocates for the provision of quality educational opportunities for second language learners. It strives to increase awareness, appreciation, and understanding of the benefits of language learning throughout Canada and beyond.

Languages Build Advocacy Toolkit
CASLT developed and launched a series of eight videos to bolster the Languages Build Advocacy Toolkit. Each video in the Languages Build Video Series features an L2 expert who describes and discusses one of eight benefits of language learning: the cognitive, academic, personal, societal, intercultural, and economic benefits and the benefits for both students with exceptionalities and additional language learners.

Please join us in raising awareness and appreciation for the many benefits of plurilingualism by using and sharing the advocacy toolkit within your networks. The Languages Build Video Series is available on CASLT’s YouTube channel. The other parts of the toolkit, including flyers, posters, and illustrations, are available as free downloads on the CASLT website and can also be ordered in print form by contacting communications@caslt.org.

Languages Build Video Contest
Between January and March 2022, we invited language learners across Canada to create videos that share how learning an additional language has helped “build” aspects of their identities, personalities, or societies. This second edition of the contest accepted entries about learning any language. Ten different languages were represented among the entries. Congratulations to our 2022 contest winners!

Free Memberships for Ukrainian Language Teachers
Starting in March 2022, CASLT began offering free CASLT memberships to Ukrainian language teachers in Canada after Russia launched its full-scale war and genocide in Ukraine. CASLT believes in the power of language learning to build community and intercultural connections and knows that learning a language also involves learning about the cultures and histories of its speakers. We therefore decided to help support Ukraine by supporting Ukrainian language teachers in Canada. In addition to teaching the Ukrainian language, their work is crucial to promoting knowledge and understanding of Ukrainian history, culture, and values.

CASLT Representation
Board members and the Executive Director represent CASLT to governments and stakeholders, including the following:

- The FSL Network
- Commission Amérique du Nord: Fédération internationale des professeurs de français
- National Table for French as a Second Language
- Annual Consultations of the Committee of Assistant Deputy Ministers on Official Languages
